The international group Crealis, specializing in closure solutions for wine and spirits, is proud to announce the appointment of Enrico Bracesco as the new CEO.

With over 20 years of experience combining strategy and execution, Enrico Bracesco has extensive expertise in the industrial sector, particularly in multicultural and international environments. He has acquired valuable know-how in managing strategic transformations and leading growth acceleration projects, notably at Cimbali, equipment dedicated to the coffee world, and Technogym, world leader in fitness equipment. Based at Crealis' headquarters in Italy, Enrico Bracesco takes over the group's leadership to ensure activities in various markets. He reports directly to Crealis' Board of Directors.

Since its creation, Crealis has continuously demonstrated its ability to innovate and develop in its various markets thanks to the unwavering commitment of its employees. Despite a tense global context, our ambition is clear: to continue to be alongside our customers and to support them, guaranteeing the performance, elegance, and durability of our products", declares Enrico Bracesco, CEO of Crealis.

The Group is grateful to Michele Moglia, the previous CEO, for his leadership and contribution over the years. Michele takes on the role of non-executive Chairman of the Board to support this transition. Michele said, "with a different role but with the same passion, I will participate alongside the Crealis team in building the future of the Group. I also extend my gratitude to Enrico and wish him the best of luck in this new phase of the group's growth."

By taking this new step in its development, Crealis reaffirms its ambition as a key player in the capping and over-capping field, driven by a solid commitment to production excellence and a shared passion for its clients' success.
